A Personal Statement in English

As a passionate music educator and researcher with expertise in music technology and composition, I fully embrace ISME's mission to nurture a global community through music education. My background equips me to blend traditional pedagogy with innovative technological approaches, enriching the educational landscape. I am dedicated to leveraging technology to broaden access and lower the barrier to music education, ensuring it meets the evolving needs of learners worldwide. If honoured with a position on the board, I will advocate for progressive, inclusive music education that honours the past while embracing the future.
